

Barbara Vigh is a student of the Doctoral School of History and Ethnography at the University of Debrecen. Her doctoral research targets to map everyday life in the 1840s based on the diary of István Széchenyi and other diaries of the Reformation era. However, at the same time she examines documents of a personal nature which they embrace another era. She has joined the work of the research team with examining the Rothschnek family in Debrecen. During her career She has published three scholarly publications and gave 9 scientific lectures, her entry 2019 meant first place at the XXXIV. National Scientific Student Conference, the Humanities Section, Department of Reformed Hungarian History. Her student dissertation brought a Special Prize from Hungarian Academy of Sciences (MTA), Research Centre for the Humanities institute of History of the Academy. Barbara took part in the research group OTKA led by Gábor Demeter working on GIS system (Térinformatikai rendszer kiépítése Magyarország és az Osztrák-Magyar Monarchia történetének tanulmányozásához).